Hi everyone!
I'm still out tabling at comic conventions. I've gotten to meet a few of you so far, which has been a real treat!
Today's episode was created by my wife Aurora, so that there could be updates while I am away. Aurora wrote and drew this update, while I did the colors.

She has her own webtoon called Drag Race, which I also color. It's basically The Fast and the Furious, if all the cars were dragons. Please check it out here on webtoon, or by going to dragracecomic.com

Next week we will be back to normal updates, and begin the conclusion of the Grandmother Slough storyline.
